

Figure A. The PatternSeek architecture shown as a three-stage system: ChiRhombant discretization and boundary awareness within the ChiR framework (top), the Geodetic Codex as the central calibration layer and geodetic stability model (center), and Strategic Operating Plans enabling simulation, alignment, and forecasting across real-world systems (bottom).

